

Important Message to Parents

Your child's safety is very important to Honda. That's why we urge you to read this message before you let any young person ride this ATV.

Off-road riding can be fun. But, as with riding a bicycle, bad judgment can result in injury, and we don't want that to happen! As a parent, you can help prevent crashes by making good decisions about if, when, and how your youngster rides this ATV.

Riding Readiness

The first decision you'll need to make is whether your youngster is ready to ride. Riding readiness varies widely from one person to another, and while the minimum age recommended for this ATV is 10 years old, there are other factors that you should consider even if your youngster is 10 or older.

PHYSICAL ABILITY are important considerations. To help determine whether a youngster is big enough for this ATV, have them stand up on the footpegs and grasp the handgrips. While the youngster holds this position, check that they have at least three inches of clearance between the ATV seat and the youngster's "seat of the pants." A rider needs at least three inches of clearance so they can stand up for balance and comfort, and to shift their body forward, backward and from side to side.
